Newsletter – 50 editions and still going strong

Your newsletter started in 2006 following almost unanimous encouragement in the 2004 Parish Plan. It was launched by a small group of volunteers and with generous grant funding, and over the years has grown in confidence and interest.

A quick scan at one sitting of all the editions highlights the ebbs and flows. For example in the early years there were repeated notes about the awful broadband reception, about the excitement of imminent affordable housing development, and about dog poo litter. The Spaniards Inn regularly advertised its amenities until its sudden closure in 2008, since when reports of its unsuccessful planning application have been prominent. Over the years we've read about the demise of the WI, First Responders, snooker club, badminton club and the summer carnival/fun day. We've seen the new film club, art group, Jack's charitable fundraising (since 2006) instead of sending local Xmas cards, a book exchange in the old telephone box, as well as the many longer-running clubs and events that help cement the community spirit.

The newsletter can be proud of its separate booklets on the history of the pub, of the old school, and of the parish during WW2. Hidden in the back numbers are other historical one-offs which deserve to be revived as collections in a new booklet.

And it would be nice to see a resumption of the articles about new residents, new councillors, old/long stay residents etc. That's just an observation, not a criticism; I know how much effort goes into producing the newsletter and congratulate all who have contributed to it over the years.

Parish Council

Regular attendees at Parish Council meetings could be forgiven for feeling they were suffering from Groundhog Day syndrome. Japanese knotweed, potholes and Broadmoor Farm once again filled the agenda without much new being said. Cllr Mac Armstrong raised the subject of the security camera at the industrial estate and asked whether it was legal to have it directed at the public highway.

In the planning part of the meeting councillors raised no objections to proposals to create two holiday homes at Lower Marsh Farm. The units would be in the existing barn conversion and in one wing of the house.

News from Landulph Memorial Hall

Next Generation: The project is now almost complete. The Under 5s will start in the new room at the beginning of the summer term (see separate report). The new kitchen in the old store room is finished. The crockery and cutlery are second-hand and will be replaced with new when funds permit. The kitchen will be available when booking the annexe and will be suitable for small parties, lunches or suppers.

The whole project has been made possible thanks to our own fundraising and donations but also by grants from The Cornwall Community Foundation, Awards for All, Big Lottery Fund, The Bernard Sunley Trust, The Norman Family Charitable Trust, The Prince of Wales's Charitable Foundation and the Sustainable Development Fund from the Tamar Valley AONB. The building work and alterations were done by Orchard Solutions.

Currently the room is known as the Old Snooker Room, the Next Generation room or the New Room. What do you think it should be called? Send your suggestion on a postcard or by email please to the address below. There will be no prizes but the satisfaction that you have beaten the hall committee who could not think of a name!

AGM: This was recently held and Diane Gregory, Alex Cox and Nicola Small resigned. Thanks to all of them for their help and support. Jane Mcrill, Shirley Wilson and Doreen Darke have joined the committee.

Dog Fouling: Dog fouling is occurring in the hall grounds. The staff has to check the ground before the Under 5's are able to go outside to play. Please can you make sure your dog does not leave deposits in the hall grounds? Thank you.

Central America by Bus and Boat: was the title of a talk given by Jane Mcrill to raise funds for the hall. Thank you Jane, it was a good afternoon and £162 was raised. Several people thought this may be something we could do again, so it will be considered by the committee, perhaps as a bi-monthly afternoon talk over the winter months.

WW1 Commemoration: The hall committee agreed to hold an event to mark this, more details after the next hall committee meeting.

Gates: Gates are being put in place that will allow the Under 5s to access their outdoor play area safely. This will be much better than the orange netting they currently use. These will only be shut during their sessions at the hall.

International music at Landulph Church

On Saturday 7 June The South West Chamber Choir makes a welcome return to Landulph Church at 7.30pm with a programme of madrigals and part-songs entitled Away, You Rolling River. It will perform a mixture of well-known songs, both early (Morley, Pearsall and Wilbye) and 20th century (including Delius and Vaughan Williams). Those who have attended SWCC concerts in the past always comment on their enjoyment of arrangements of traditional songs by Stephen Trahair (SWCC Musical Director); they will not be disappointed with items such as Shenandoah, Down in the river to pray and Oranges and Lemons. The programme also includes pieces by the composer of the moment, Eric Whitacre (<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=D7o7BrlbaDs>) and some twenties swing.

On 22 June at 6pm we also welcome back international violinist Rebekka Hartmann and harpsichordist Caroline Bergius. They have performed in the region a number of times and are on this occasion bringing cellist Meinhard Holler. The programme will include two Bach sonatas for violin, harpsichord and cello continuo, plus a trio sonata of Buxtehude. There will be solo items and a Handel sonata for cello and continuo.

Tickets for both events will be available from 1 May from Phillida Jermain (Tel: 01752 847546) or at the door. Early booking is advised as we anticipate a full church. Proceeds to the Landulph Church fabric fund.

Landulph Under Fives

The children will be getting in the spring mood looking at spring festivals including Shrove Tuesday, St Patrick's Day, Mother's Day and Easter.

Also we shall be following the children's interest in all types of machines including space machines and aliens.

The Pre-school walked up the hill to visit Park Farm in February. Thanks to Richard Brown for allowing us to all take turns to bottle feed a lamb!

The children love this annual trip, they were very surprised at the lambs powerful suck on the bottle!

Mr Arundell, the head teacher of Landulph Primary School and Mrs Yull the reception teacher, are to be visiting pre-school on a regular basis to begin to get to know the children going up to school in September.

They will also provide us with some helpful supervision and feedback to staff in line with Ofsted recommendations.

We are spending grant money from the Co-op and Cornwall County Council on new furniture for our Next Generation Room. We plan to move into the room for the summer term, the committee, staff and children are all very excited to move in!

Valentines Band Evening

Thank you to all who braved the storm and came out to support The Landulph Under Fives Valentines Band night. There were gales to battle through and a fallen tree to negotiate - but still people attended the evening and raised a massive £2,100, all of which will go towards Landulph Under Fives and the Next Generation room. The Hall and Annexe looked very pretty and romantic making a fabulous party atmosphere. The band Keiko Rise, having come all the way from Penzance, were a real hit with the locals and kept them dancing till late. Thank you to everyone who helped out and for supporting the night, and an even bigger thank you to Jo, Mel and Carly for organising a wonderful evening!

In addition, thanks to all of you who generously bought tickets and helped raise an additional £510 towards the Next Generation room.

Sailing club prepares for season

With the AGM held at the beginning of February and the boats in winter store in the Coombe being lifted back into the water on the 31 March, preparations are well under way for Cargreen Yacht Club's new summer season. The Club's first social event is the Fitting-out Lunch on Sunday 13 April.

As always, the Cadet section promises to be the most active part of the club with a full complement of members and a short waiting list. A packed programme includes training, cruises and races as well as regular Friday evening sessions.

The cadets held their annual Prize Giving evening in March. Young Sailor of the Year was Georgie Clarke; the Most Helpful Cadet was Josh Small and the Most Improved Cadets were Lucy Allan and Seb Ford. The evening was organised by Colin Plumb and Dave Wheatley; the prizes were presented by club Commodore, James Jermain.

The Club always welcomes new members.

Landulph School News

Hello, my name is Richard Arundell and I am the new 'Acting' Head of School at Landulph. I will be here steering the school forward until July while Mrs Best is busy with baby Isaac. I have been a Deputy Head of an inner city school in Devonport, Plymouth for the last six years and am excited about the prospect of leading the school through some exciting times ahead. I have been bowled over by the kindness of the pupils, parents, staff and Governors here at Landulph and I am already smitten with my new job, and being part of such an exciting and vibrant school. I was brought up in the area and lived on a farm near Harrowbarrow before moving to the wilds of Bodmin Moor, so it feels very much like 'coming home' to be here at Landulph. There will be opportunities for the local community to visit and get involved in the life of the school over the next few months and I will keep you posted on this.

As this item goes to press we are looking forward to our first ever Mum's Pamper morning at Landulph School. Mums, aunties and grans have been invited to join us in school for a morning of pampering followed by lunch. Pamper morning activities will include art & craft, decorate a cup cake and photography along with hand massage.

Our annual end of term Easter Egg hunt will also have taken place when you read this where we are delighted to welcome the Landulph Under Fives who join us for this special event.

Big money raised for cancer research

The Cargreen Cancer Research Group raised £1,583 last year, its AGM heard recently. The group would like to thank all who contributed.

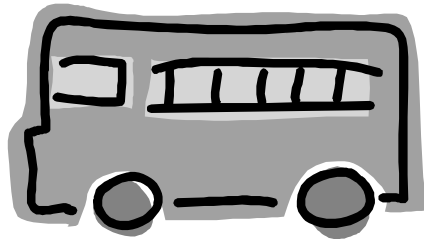

A coffee morning will be held on Saturday 26 April at Three Corner Meadow, Cargreen from 10.30am to noon to which all are invited. We will serve coffee and cakes and there will be plants for sale, a raffle, a bring and buy, bric a brac stall and a cake stall. Donations for the stalls are welcome; please come and support us.

The main fundraising event will be a lunch on Sunday 28 September at Landulph Memorial Hall called The Two Ps or Ploughman's and Puds.

WAITROSE FREE BUS

We have just heard that, as requested, Waitrose have agreed to a Free Bus once a week on a trial basis each Wednesday, collecting passengers in Coombe Lane at 9.30am returning from Waitrose at 12.05 starting 9 April. We must remind those people who asked for this bus that we use it or we will lose it completely.

Film Club Iranian hostage drama comes to Landulph

On 15 April the Film Club will show Argo the final movie of the winter series, and hopes to attract new viewers as well as the regulars with a bang up to date thriller which won several best picture awards last year. Set in Iran in 1979, the plot centres on an attempt to free six American hostages by fooling the authorities that they are members of a legitimate film crew. It's based on an actual event, so the outcome might be well known to you but the drama and suspense are so well crafted that you'll be gripped. Ben Affleck stars and directed.

Hanging On – thought provoking social drama

Performed at the Memorial Hall on 15 February, by the Play It Again Company, this play was challenging from the beginning. The severe, stripped down set matched the bleak subject matter of abusive relationships and exposed the reality of serial partner abuse from generation to generation. Written by Cornish playwright Jonathan Plunkett, choreographed by Emily Dobson, directed by Chloe Hughes it was performed by a cast of three.

The script's early humour quickly disappeared as the audience realised the seriousness of the message. A boy, a new girlfriend, his mother, and an abusive stepfather are involved in dark relationships. When a mobile is given to the girl by the boy, 'just for their use', it becomes very clear how controlling and aggressive the boy is becoming as he feels she is getting out of his control.

In the second act, we were asked to vote, by texting or a show of hands, on various questions cleverly designed to make us think. The outcome changes according to the will of the audience.

The acting was superb, requiring live improvisation, and one came away from the evening feeling stirred by this novel drama form, combining entertainment with education. The Landulph audience were very responsive and many relevant and interesting questions were asked during the play, which is also taken into schools and universities.

Gardening club spring flower show

Wheelbarrows were the new and vibrant family class in this year's show. Eleven barrows of all sizes, decorated and planted on the theme "We love colour" really delighted everyone. They made a wonderful fresh addition to the show. Peter Braund had the daunting yet enjoyable task of judging, thank you Peter for doing that.

We had just over 400 entries, an encouraging increase on last year and some new exhibitors too, which I'm thrilled to see. Without all the energy and time given so freely by a great team of helpers, and without all the exhibitors participating, this lovely village event would not be possible so a heartfelt THANK YOU to everyone.

Looking forward to next year already.

The Floral Art Trophy, for best entry in floral art classes. Jane Espig

The Junior Cup, for best entry in junior classes. Holly Freeman.

The gardening year

The Gardening Club year started well with an interesting talk on China and camellias, followed by a fern talk. The weather perked up in time for the Spring Show and there is news of this elsewhere in this issue. The April talk, on Wednesday 9 at 7.30pm, will be about preparing a Cornish garden for inclusion in the National Garden Scheme. During May, on Wednesday 14, we will have an evening visit to the garden of Middlewood House, on the upper part of the River Lyhner. We hope to have a day outing in June, on Wednesday 11; in all probability to a house and garden, but I will be checking with members whether this would meet with approval.

Choir on song

Everyone enjoyed the opportunity to sing three Scottish songs, adapted by our conductor Liz Saudek, at the Burns supper in the Memorial Hall in January. The membership gradually builds, as does the repertoire. The Vaughan Williams setting of the William Barnes poem Linden Lea is wonderful to sing, and a selection of challenging Gershwin songs is currently in progress.

A highly entertaining evening on 6 March was spent with Shelley Jeffery from Launceston, who taught us techniques of voice production. We continue to meet at the Yacht Club on Thursday evenings, although a summer break is planned. New members are always welcome.
