Your guide to what's happening in the area

Parish Council Meeting 17 May 2010

Dear David and Nick, thanks for all the recent letters. You could never have guessed their effect, or that one letter with two signatures would have done the trick. As you settle into your new jobs be reassured that here in Landulph the Parish Council is coping with equal challenges, and meeting them with lantern-jawed determination.

The annual election to specific posts was dispatched swiftly by appointing the same chairman, vice chair etc. We believe in stable strong government here too. No specific posts were available for councillors Cradick, West or Lipscomb, but they may be useful as Minister without Portfolio, Roving Ambassador, and Chairman's Rottweiler, but not necessarily in that order. I hope that George and Vince are working well to balance the books; they could take a leaf from our book, because our Council has saved nearly £400 a year by changing its insurer. That's 3% of our parish precept. Bet you're jealous. As new boys yourselves, you'd have sympathy with our clerk and councillors who had to consider the renewal of a 10-year lease agreement on the cricket field which was gifted to the council 10 years ago, long before any of them were on the Council. It emerged that they did not know whether the Council owned the cricket pavilion, whether the pavilion was insured by the tenants, or whether the toilets were fit for use.

You won't understand this, but someone suggested that our disused telephone box might serve as a loo. You probably won't understand either why the council was pleased to report that garden refuse can be collected by the normal refuse truck on Tuesdays, provided the greenstuff is in the approved bags, on sale for 50p each at Hatt shop.

Intriguingly, councillor Creagh-Osborne said that he would have news about broadband services at the next Parish Council meeting. That's how to attract the crowds!

Planning: nil

With best wishes,

Morton Macleod

70 Years Ago - 1940 Was Awful

Why such a weird headline? Few of us are old enough to remember this period in World War Two, when it seemed that Britain might be overwhelmed by Hitler's European victories. We all know that Germany and its allies were eventually defeated, but for those who lived with the real prospect of defeat and invasion, each day must have felt like the edge of a precipice.

War was formally declared in Britain in September 1939, but preparations to defend our allies in Europe had been in hand for some months. Later in 1939 a third of a million British, French and Belgian soldiers tried to halt the German advance across Europe towards France. However, in 1940 Hitler invaded Norway, Denmark, Holland and France, sweeping the allies before them. They retreated to the Belgian coast at Dunkirk and might have been annihilated but for a stubborn rearguard action and an amazing rescue mission by Naval and civilian vessels which ferried most of them to England. Hundreds of tanks and most heavy equipment had to be abandoned. The British Army was virtually defunct for many months, and the fear of invasion very real.

Later in 1940, Italy allied itself to Hitler, and France surrendered to the Nazis, leaving neutral Spain and Switzerland as the only major states in the European mainland not under enemy occupation. This was the time when Britain "stood alone". In the Battle of Britain in the summer of 1940, German bombers and fighters attacked military targets in southern England, and took heavier losses than the defending Royal Air Force, as a result of which air control of the Channel remained in British hands, and Hitler therefore abandoned his plans to invade Britain. This may not have been immediately obvious to ordinary citizens, but the new Prime Minister Winston Churchill (since May 1940) marked this important victory with the now famous sentence "Never in the field of human conflict was so much owed by so many to so few".

By 1941, the Army had re-equipped and was having successes in North Africa and the Middle East, Hitler attacked Russia and Japan attacked the USA, thus widening the War to global proportions and bringing powerful allies to Britain's side. The momentum towards allied victory now gathered pace, and although life in Britain still faced hardship and loss, the spectre of invasion and defeat began to fade. Locally, Plymouth's worst period of intensive bombing and widespread destruction in the city occurred in March and April 1941.

This is part of the background to the stories told in our booklet Landulph at War, which the Newsletter Group hope to distribute with the next edition of the Newsletter.

Landulph Memorial Hall

Having noted there was likely to be a power vacuum in the Memorial Hall Management Committee I made a mistake, and volunteered!

Hence I have been elected as Chairman/Woman/Person for the Landulph Hall Management Committee for 2009/2010.

However there is a good group of workers to help:

Nikki Gill is happy to continue with the time consuming job as Booking Clerk.

Philip Braund, previous Chairman, has agreed to be Vice Chair.

Andrea Chick, new to the village, but with great community secretarial experience, is Secretary.

Gaye Braund, who continues as Treasurer, will make sure no dodgy expense claims are submitted.

Nathan Lee will do minor repairs.

James Jermain has agreed to initiate a fund raising sub-group to look at fun ways of making money for the Hall upkeep.

Complete details of the rest of the Committee can be seen on the Hall notice board.

As mentioned in the last newsletter, thanks are due to all who have previously been involved in the running of the Hall.

Jo Butcher

Landulph Memorial Hall

P.S. It's good to know that the Hall Management Committee is reconstituted, and under strong new leadership. Few parishioners are aware that at April's Parish Council Meeting the Parish Council were worried that as owners/trustees of the Hall, they might have to take on its management in the absence of a viable Hall Committee. However, crisis has been averted, and we can all breathe a sigh of relief as there will be no support needed from the Parish Rates.

Landulph Methodist News

The Soup and Sweet lunches are proving very popular. Unfortunately there will be no lunch on Wednesday 14 July as the Women's Network are holding a Cream tea at 2 00 pm in the school room to which everyone is invited. In August we shall be changing the lunches to the first Wednesday which will be 4 August at 12 noon. We hope to continue on the first Wednesday throughout the year.

Don't forget Barry and Karen Richards' gardens are open on Sun 1 and Sun 15 August 1.30 pm to 5 00 pm, cream teas served in the Methodist schoolroom from 2 pm.

Parish Plan

A heartening number of parishioners visited the former snooker room during the Big Breakfast/Market on 15 May and were able to discuss their views about the future of the parish.

All the Parish Plan Committee were on hand to discuss the questions that will go out to parishioners during June/July in the form of a questionnaire. Please fill this in when you get it so that it is ready for collection.

News from Landulph School

This month sees the start of 'Learning Together' where we welcome the new pupils and their parents into school prior to them joining us in September. The scheme runs for six sessions and the pupils join in with Class 1 for the last part of the day. The scheme helps the new pupils become familiar with the staff and the surroundings that they will encounter in September and eases the transition from pre-school to school.

Next month the pupils from Class 3 are attending an exciting event at Plymouth Pavilions. The BBC Concert Orchestra is presenting a Music Mix that will include timeless classics for everyone and will give the pupils an opportunity to experience first hand this fantastic concert orchestra.

Our annual sports day is planned for Thursday 24 June, weather permitting, please do come and join us for this afternoon of fun and games.

We are now able to offer a photocopying service to the local community from 3.30pm until 4.30pm. Copies on A4 paper will cost 5p each in black & white. Colour and A3 size paper are also available, price on application.

We are in need of a site supervisor and cleaner for the school for 12.5 hours per week from 4pm to 6.30pm on a daily basis. Please contact 0300 1234 100 for further information or visit the school's website: www.landulphschool.co.uk

The School Memorial Clock

On Friday, 7 May Landulph Parish Projects Group and Landulph School held a Celebration Assembly to give a big 'thank you' to Mrs Pauline Rutherford and her family for looking after the War Memorial Clock so well over the past 87 years and to celebrate its refurbishment. In 1923, when the school was built, it also incorporated a Memorial Clock as a suggestion from Mrs. Rutherford's grandmother, Mrs Olive Prideaux, a teacher at the school. She suggested the clock as a memorial to those from Landulph Parish who had served in World War. For the next 48 years Mrs Rutherford's father Victor oiled, cleaned and wound the clock. When he retired Pauline took over and even when she retired from the School in 1994 she still continued to visit every six months to change the clock in line with British summer time, and even more often in recent years, as the clock started to go wrong and often had to be re-set. Fund raising began and with grants from Viridor, His Royal Highness the Duke of Cornwall and with donations from local parishioners, the £4,000 plus was raised for a new bell strike controller, upgrade of the clock mechanism and refurbishment of the dial and hands. The clock will now re-set itself and no longer needs to be changed by hand.

Mrs Rutherford was presented with a bouquet of flowers from Sophie and Becky Gill, Sophie Congdon and Georgia Deacon whose grandfathers were all pupils at the school when the clock was last refurbished in the 50's. Mrs Rutherford gave a speech to the children showing them pictures of clocks which were special to her including a clock which her mother-in-law Mrs Win Rutherford had when she was Postmaster at the old Post Office in Cargreen. The Assembly was attended by people from the parish including Les Clark who remembered the move from the old school to the new.

The clock is the emblem of the School and is now looking very smart again, still in its original place at the entrance to the school building where it has stood for over 80 years.

Memories of Landulph

Les Clark was born in the village in 1919 and is one of its oldest residents. Some years ago he was interviewed by Joan Doyle, a professional radio journalist of the BBC and Plymouth Sound. A recording was made of his fascinating personal reminiscences of village life. This is now available on CD at a cost of £5. If you would like a copy, please contact Sylvia Bedbrook on 01752 844519 or email sylvia@bedbrook.co.uk. All proceeds from the sales will be put towards the production of Landulph News.

Landulph Under 5s

Exciting news.....Landulph Under 5s Pre-School is having an Open Day on Saturday 12 June 10-12am. We are throwing our doors open and inviting potential new recruits and their parents/carers to come and have a look at what we do best. There will be lots of exciting craft activities to have a go at, the fire engine will be visiting, dress up as a princess or knight, play outside on the bikes or simply have a piece of cake and sit back and watch the balloon modelling.

Hopefully you will have received our new flyer with your newsletter this month. We are currently having a big recruitment drive for the Pre-School and Baby & Toddler group. We would very much appreciate it if you could pass your flyer onto anyone you know or think would be interested in coming for a visit, and potentially joining our merry band. We really need your support.

The Pre-School is a charity run by a committee of volunteers and we employ three members of highly-experienced staff to work with the children. Pre-School's numbers for September are low. We firmly believe that we are a valuable asset to our community and offer a great service. As a parent myself I feel fortunate to be able to walk my children to Pre-School and I want to preserve this for future families. This village is a rarity because of our strong community spirit but this can only continue with your support.

Parish Projects Group

The AGM of the Parish Projects Group was held recently. Mrs. Mavis Edmonds, the retiring Chairwoman, took the opportunity to look at the projects completed over the past 12 months including the refurbishment of the School Clock (please see the earlier article) and the new noticeboard at the crossroads and replacement boards at Coombe Lane. Further projects were discussed including the provision of a small number of additional items at the Playpark aimed specially for the older children. New members are always welcome to the group, and future meetings will be advertised on the noticeboards.

Important Dates for Your Diary:
2010 Landulph Festival of Music and the Arts
02 – 16 October

Following the spellbinding guitar recital by Morgan Szymanski last year, this year's Festival programme will open with a performance by another internationally acclaimed young musician. Further events will range from the increasingly popular Wednesday lunchtime Classical concert with pasty lunch in the Methodist Church to evenings of Folk and Rock in the Memorial Hall. The Poetry Evening at the Yacht Club will build on the success of last year. Now is the time to create your contribution to the Art Exhibition in the Rectory Room and to think about an entry to the photographic section, this year's theme being At Work. Workshops to enjoy include Driftwood Sculpture with Anthea Lay and Poetry with Hannah Silva. We warmly welcome increasing involvement from Landulph School and the Under 5s Group.

Innovations for this year include a Village Barn Dance on Friday 08 October a film show on Thursday 07 in the Memorial Hall.

Following our donation of £350 to Ellie's Haven last year, the local charity chosen to benefit from this year's Festival is St Luke's Hospice, www.stlukes-hospice.org.uk.

All this is provided for you on your doorstep – book the dates now - and don't forget the opportunity to take part in the Village Night! Further details will appear on the Festival website: www.landulphfestival.co.uk.

2010 Landulph Festival of Music and the Arts
Village Night, Saturday 16 October

Do you have a hidden talent? Can you perform magic tricks? Tapdance? Play an instrument? Tell ghost stories?

Last year's Village Night was agreed by all present to have been a huge success. I for one was amazed by the scope and variety of performances, ranging from Haley Plum and her young friends' rock band, to classical piano, hand bells, folk songs and even a penny whistle!

This year we are looking for more and varied performers! Don't be shy, and there's plenty of time to practise between now and 16 October! If you don't want to be on stage alone, get together with some friends and enjoy safety in numbers.

If you would like to take part, or chat about possibly performing but with absolutely no commitment to do so, please get in touch with Graham Ivey, Tel 07768 763 584.

Landulph Good Companions News

Optimistically, it looks to be a promising year ahead with a good start. Christmas and New Year went off very well indeed, with over 60 members attending both events. There was an unusual happening in February when Oakhouse Foods gave a demonstration of their Ready Meals, with sampling. The March happening was a visit from an internationally known Spiritualist/Healer/Mystic, Gayle Force, with some very surprising reactions. By contrast, the March meeting brought us Kevin Grant, a superb speaker and former Monk who held his audience spellbound. The first coach outing of the season took the form of a train and coach journey from Gunnislake local line to Plymouth Barbican. A good programme lies ahead for meetings & outings; the 2010 Christmas lunch and 2011 Pantomime are already booked, so, it's 'all systems go!' Sadly, there have been more sad losses through bereavement, but one or two new members are very welcome. A few more members from the Newsletter's happy readers would be very welcome. Just ring Harry 846692 for a programme and membership.

Big Breakfast and Saturday Market- the first for 2010

Fliiss Wyman and her team provided breakfast for shoppers at Landulph Memorial Hall on Sat 15 May. There were stalls selling plants, flowers, honey, fish and many other things. It was a sunny day, people chatted and shopped and an enjoyable time was had by all who came. The grand sum of £444.27p was raised for the eco club at Landulph Primary School. Well done to all who worked so hard to make the Big Breakfast a successful village event.

Gardening Club

Daffodils and Camellias made Landulph Memorial Hall look lovely for the 13th Landulph Gardening Club Spring Show, organised by Show Secretaries Shirley and Mike Kitney. Started with the encouragement of the late Dan du Plessis in 1998, each year the club members have staged a lovely show. This year there were fears that the hard winter would mean a much reduced show, however this was not so and those who visited the show not only enjoyed tea and wonderful cakes prepared by Nan Doughty and her team but also enjoyed an inspiring display.

Cup winners included, Rose Cradick, Mary Beeson, Barry Richards, Chris Dunn, Jane Espig, and Sophie Gill.

Thanks must go to all the exhibitors without whom there would be no show and if you think you had better flowers in your garden please join in the fun and enter next year.

Secret Guinness Drinker?

For many years I have been surprised when I have periodically found Guinness cans in the hedges and verges of our footpaths. Not a drink I would associate with quenching your thirst on a walk. However the mystery has deepened.

In March some kind farmer cut back the area of brambles and blackthorn bushes just past the kissing gate as you start on the climb up footpath 9 from the Coombe (reminder to the writer, find a new source of sloes in the autumn!). This exposed a huge pile of 64 Guinness cans and 6 Carlsberg – I know the number because I collected them up to take home to recycle.

The summer weather should be with us and you may want to take a drink with you on a walk. This is just a reminder that cans, cartons, and plastic bottles do not degrade and remain an almost permanent eyesore. Please take them home with you.

Cornish Jam

"This should be an annual event", "We have had a great time", "It was an elegant occasion", were the comments heard on Saturday night 22 May at Tamara.

It was a truly parish event. Cornish Jam, a band of musicians and singers, 75% of whom live in the parish were performing to help raise fund for Cancer Research UK. The pig for the hog roast also was local and the strawberries had been picked at Tamara that morning. The Cargreen Cancer Research Group helped with the catering.

170 people came, ate, drank, danced and made merry. Well done to all for raising the wonderful sum of £2600
