Parish Council meeting February 2017

Our previous edition reported that the Rectory Room and the School were ineligible for awards from the Solar Park fund. On further investigation it emerged that the school PTA as a stand-alone charity is sufficiently separate from the school to have eligibility, so later in the meeting it was awarded £3,743 ex VAT for repairs and improvements to an outdoor play/teaching shelter. With equal pleasure the Council agreed to release £3,721 for Penyoke play park maintenance and repairs. After completion of the agreed work future costs will be borne fully by the Parish Council. Fascinatingly, the Rectory Room bid proved difficult not just because it may be a religious building but also because proof of ownership is nowhere to be found.

The chairman confirmed that the Council is powerless to prevent new street name signs in the village (Penyoke Lane) carrying both English and Cornish identifiers. According to Mr Google there are about 300 fluent Cornish speakers in Cornwall, while the second commonest spoken language in Cornwall is Polish, with about 1980 speakers (and for all we know Cantonese may not be far behind). I propose that our street signs have artistic Chinese ideograms rather than Cornish gobbledegook. All those in favour....

Work to start on overhead electricity lines

Parishioners will have noticed the scaffolding towers being erected under one of the pylon runs from Ellbridge. This is to enable to the National Grid to trial a new high-visibility paint on the cables which, they hope, will reduce the risk of aircraft colliding with the cables. This is one of several measures being introduced to facilitate the reopening of Plymouth Airport. Supporters of the airport hope this action will bring the chances of reviving the facility one step nearer.

The plan is to paint the wires in the run from the sub-station at Ellbridge all the way to Roborough Down north of Plymouth in a vivid day-glow yellow colour; the paint will also be treated to glow in the dark to assist night time air traffic. Work is due to commence on 1 April and is expected to last for 14 weeks.

Landulph plan progress

The Landulph Neighbourhood Plan Group has published the results of its survey conducted recently. The analysis can be seen on its website, landulphplan.org or on the Facebook page landulph Innit. It is well worth reading with some interesting and surprising statistics.

The Group is currently revising the plan to accommodate the views of parishioners. It will then be submitted for a second series of consultations later this year before the final version is released.

Hall Handyman required

Landulph Memorial Hall requires a local part-time Caretaker for general maintenance and on-call responsibilities. Hours by arrangement. Please contact the Secretary on 01752 845838 or sally.worth@gmail.com for a job description.

Landulph Under Fives

The children have been very busy so far this term at pre-school, and amongst other topics we have been learning about Spring. On Thursday 9 February Richard Brown kindly let pre-school and toddler groups visit the lambs at his farm. We had a wonderful time bottle feeding and cuddling them. We also saw some cows, a calf and tractors! A big thank you to Richard.

As our pre-school is a charity, we rely heavily on fundraising undertaken by our dedicated committee of parents as the funding from the government does not cover our running costs. We have several events coming up in the next few weeks for which we would be grateful to receive the support of the local community. The events are:

On the 2 April we will be running a children's tent during Defender Day at Pentillie. There will be lots of arts and crafts and fun things to keep children entertained.

Our Easter Egg Hunt is on Sunday 23 April with a pop-up café in the annexe at the Memorial Hall where there will be cream teas and homemade cakes on offer. Pre-school is also very busy at the moment and we need additional staff to provide support. If you have a Level 2 or 3 BTEC (or equivalent) in Early Years Childcare and are in a position to help us out, please contact Lisa Hughes on 07734 210365.

Landulph is a Thriving School

This spring term has been extremely positive and optimistic at Landulph School. Among a number of visits was one by Class 3 to a science and technology show case at Plymouth University. This trip was organised by saltash.net for our children and free for all parents.

For World Book Day the whole school dressed in costume as characters from their favourite books. The day culminated in a grand story telling session; the children created and presented stories based on our school values and finally swapped their favourite books with each other, promoting a love of reading.

We are developing as a Thrive School, a programme for individuals, groups or even whole classes to support well-being and development. We have a play therapist who is working individually with some of our younger children. Another initiative is 'Drawing and Talking' which allows children the time to talk through worries or problems. We are very proud of our pastoral care and believe that our children are very well supported.

Eighty-two per cent of our children take part in extra-curricular clubs and activities which take place in and out of school hours. Some are sporty, others are arty and techy; the aim is to provide something for everyone! All but one of the clubs are provided free of charge by members of staff and volunteer parents.

Landulph Methodist Church

The Church's 143rd Anniversary Service will be on Sunday 14 May at 3.00pm. The service will be taken by Richard Uglow with tea to follow. There will be a concert by the Pelynt Male Voice Choir on Sat 17 June at 7.30pm - watch the notice boards for more information.

Landulph Gardening Club

Spring is definitely here with more light, occasional boosts in temperature and many Spring flowers showing their faces. Lawns are growing lush and, in my garden, somewhat tufty! The Club is celebrating the season with the Annual Spring Show on Saturday 8 April, at 2 pm. I hope your interest has been caught by the flyer that's intended to encourage entries in the family class (a decorated bicycle or trike any size). There are also loads of other exciting and interesting categories for everyone. Don't hesitate, join in and be part of our village's floral heritage. If you would like an entry schedule or have any queries contact Jane 844811 or Jen 846504. I hope as many as possible will scour their gardens and contribute to a colourful show.

Our April talk on Wednesday 12 April at 7.30pm will be about various gardens in the attractive area of the Cotswolds. In May we have a visit to the Boconnoc Estate. This will be on Tuesday, 2 May, 2 to 5pm.

For June, we will go by car to a local open garden. Although July is a long time yet, on 12th we plan to go by coach to Hestercombe Gardens, near Taunton. There will probably be room on the coach for non-Gardening Club members if anyone is interested.

Bees

As a sign of the times Phillip Braund reports that his bees had such a disastrous summer last year he is unable to supply honey to parishioners at the moment.

He says, 'Hopefully the sun will shine this summer and all you kind people will plant your garden with bee friendly plants. Bees need all the help we can give them.'

Penyoke tractor returning for the summer

Whilst the playground at Penyoke is well loved and used by all, last year the equipment was identified by the Parish Council as getting tired and the cost of repair anticipated to be high. The question asked was 'Do we want to keep the park as it is or should we down size and make it more affordable to maintain?' Olivia Teacher and I set up the Park Working Group who reported to the Parish Council on what the community wanted... 'keep it as it is!' we all cried and 'bring the tractor back!' The Working Group reviewed last year's park inspection and identified improvements that needed to be done to get the park in top condition ready for the summer. This work (replacing rotten timbers, reproofing etc) will be funded via the solar park grant and will take place in late April. And what about the tractor? Nigel Cummings has the beloved tractor in his garage and will be restoring it to its former glory ready for the summer. Waitrose tokens were posted furiously by Landulph residents, raising a contribution of £263 towards this project. Thanks to all for your enthusiasm and support. The park will be closed from 24 April - 8 May to enable the repair work to go ahead.

Jack and the Beanstalk

Gales of laughter swept Landulph Hall when the pantomime Jack and the Beanstalk played to capacity audiences on two evenings at the beginning of February. This was the first Landulph panto with adult performers that most parishioners could remember. The idea of a panto has been discussed for years but it took the impresario drive and talent of teacher Sally Worth, and her sound and light wizard husband Martin, backed by the Festival Committee, finally to bring it to the Memorial Hall stage.

All the traditional ingredients were there in the professional script.

However, the real entertainment was in the additions penned by cast and backstage staff satirising local issues and personalities. Considerable ad libbing, both intentional and unintentional, added to the hilarity. The two evenings differed considerably in style, with Saturday night's offering significantly more 'family friendly'.

The cast was brilliantly lead by Jason Small, in his first ever acting role, as Jack. He expertly orchestrated the traditional hissing, booing, cheering and cries of 'he's behind you...!'. Nicola Small appropriately and sweetly played Princess Jill, the love of Jack's life.

A revelation to his friends and neighbours was David Ford as Dame Effy Cashus, Jack's flamboyantly dressed Mum. Marcia Pirie was evil personified oozing around the stage as Uriah Creep. Inspired casting produced a suave Prince Charming from Allen Pack and a gentle giant with an Irish accent by Con O'Connor.

With a cast of 27 it would be impossible to mention all, but the audiences were treated to a special comedic delight by Sue Hassan and Andrea Edwards as the hip side-kicks MC Wickiwickiwickid and Innit. Gary Edwards and Mark Shirlaw were udderly brilliant as Maisy the Cow.

The younger generation also shone with confident performances from Amelie Wilkes as the fairy and her supporters Hollie Lavis and Evie Pearson. A bravura cameo by Daniel Sissons promised a bright acting future!

A final credit must go to the Landulph Art Group and friends who created the scenery, and all the backstage crew who almost made the evening run smoothly! But the biggest thank-you goes to producer-director, Sally Worth – please Miss, can we have some more!

Good Companions

The Good Companions' first coach trip this year is to Heartlands Mining World Heritage site and Botanical Gardens at Pool, near Redruth. Admission is free. On 23 May the group is going to Widecombe-in-the-Moor.

Other outings for the year include a trip by steam train from Paignton to Kingswear on 27 June and a visit to Abbotsbury Swannery, Dorset, on 25 July.

The speaker for April will be Jo Totterdell from St Dominick. Her theme is 'Life amongst the daffodils'. In May Mike Bearcroft, Professional Footballer, Actor and Author, explains that 'Variety has been the spice of my Life'. Robin Gay from Rame Head tells us about the National Coastwatch Institution on 20 June and on 18 July Duncan Matthews of Old Cornwall Society talks about 'Marc Brunel'.

Our meetings are held on the 3rd Tuesday of each month in the Memorial Hall at 2.30pm and there are trips on the 4th Tuesday of the month through the summer.

If you would like to join us for our meetings or coach trips contact Doreen Braund 01752 845495 or Mavis Edmonds for a programme.

Concert SATURDAY 10 JUNE, 7.30pm LANDULPH CHURCH

We are delighted to welcome The South West Chamber Choir, musical director Stephen Trahair, to Landulph Church again. Within a programme entitled Brother Sun, Sister Moon they will present a wide variety of unaccompanied songs and readings on the theme of the Canticle of the Sun: Sun, Moon, Wind, Water, Fire, World, Love and Death. Many composers are represented in this programme, from R L Pearsall to Helen Porter, from Flanders & Swan to Byrd, and Toch's Geographical Fugue alongside Over the Rainbow. Something for everyone! Tickets, price £8, are available from Phillida Jermain phillidajermain@hotmail.com / 01752 847546 or at the door, proceeds to the church tower roof fund. Wine will be available in the interval.

Cargreen businessman goes into the Dragon's Den

Martin Worth, Business Development Director of Rugged Interactive, based in Fowey, reports on his experience pitching for funds from television's fearsome Dragons.

April... a brown-field studio in Manchester... up at 5am... technical rehearsal at 7am... make-up at 8.30am... ready for a 9am shoot.

Waiting outside the den is a nail biting moment. Inside, Simon Heap, founder of Rugged Interactive, Lauren Anning and Lucy Manley, designer and sports scientist respectively, were giving a lively pitch of our latest products, the CardioWall Compact, Pro-X and Trail Blazer climbing wall. Then it was my turn to face the barrage of lights and cameras. I noticed Simon seemed extremely ill at ease.

I had a heated exchange with Touker over the forecast figures for the next 12 months. The questioning was confrontational and I pushed back.

Weirdly, I discovered I was enjoying the challenge when, suddenly, it was all over. Peter said those fateful words, 'I'm going to make you an offer' - followed by Touker (despite our recent skirmish)... then Deborah.... then Sarah.

We started negotiating percentages and eventually, Peter and Deborah agreed to collaborate on a percentage buyback after two years if we were on target. Then Touker offered all the money for a lower percentage. After further discussion we felt that we could not work well with Touker and accepted Peter and Deborah's offer. They leapt off their seats for handshakes and kisses. We'd made it!

We had been in the Den for 90 gruelling minutes and emerged victorious. Interviews and photo shoots took us to lunch time.

What a roller coaster ride! What a surreal experience - and, what a disappointment when the broadcast was shown as part of the series finale!

Brutal editing focused on all our mistakes under pressure; Lauren and Lucy hardly featured at all; the equipment was not really showcased and the only acknowledgement of our business acumen was Peter's statement that 'we got off on the wrong foot.' Would I do it again? Probably NOT. PS: To try out the equipment for yourselves, visit iBounce Trampoline Park in Bodmin and have fun!

The Sheriff from Pentillie

Sarah Coryton of Pentillie Castle has been sworn in as High Sheriff of Cornwall for 2017/18. The Office of High Sheriff is an independent non-political royal appointment for a single year. The origins of the office date back to Saxon times, when the 'shire reeve' was responsible to the king for the maintenance of law and order within the county, and for the collection and return of taxes due to the crown.

Sarah is the tenth High Sheriff of Cornwall connected with the Pentillie estate and will be the 12th woman in the office. She takes over from Jane Hartley of Holywell Bay, and is looking forward to working with local crime prevention agencies, the emergency services and the voluntary sector, supporting the Crown and the judiciary.

Cargreen skippers on course

On a dark November evening ten intrepid would-be navigators embarked on a voyage of learning and discovery. Over the weeks we were guided through a myriad of topics. We came to understand the effect tides and wind have on a boat's progress. We were also introduced to the wonders of variation, deviation and the methods of how to apply them. We were even taught how to recognise a vessel restricted in its ability to manoeuvre. We suspect that a couple of our crew who got lost along the way did so as they had their chart plotters the wrong way round and had sailed off on a reciprocal course. The remainder emerged ready to put the theory into practice. Many thanks must go to Will Davies, our instructor, who gave up his time to teach us and to Dave Wheatley for organising the course.

An Easter Message

Which is your church? Many of you may respond 'I don't have one, thank you'. Others may point to a Methodist, Roman Catholic or other denomination, some may point toward their Mosque or Synagogue or other faith community.

By an accident of history, a parish church is there for everyone who lives in the parish of any faith or none. It's there to be alongside people as they rejoice, or when they grieve. Mostly, it's there to affirm life and all that's good in it.

When I arrived I was aware that some felt they couldn't join in worship. Families with young children particularly wanted something children could relate to. We've tried to meet their needs with a Family Service every six weeks or so. Morning Praise is also a service without Communion which some prefer. Communion services are still held regularly. We've also tried to make it easier with a regular service; every second and fourth Sunday at 10am in Landulph.

On Palm Sunday, we tell the story of Jesus' entry into Jerusalem on a donkey. On Good Friday 14 April, there's a simple service at 2.00pm, and a celebration of Easter on Sunday at 10am.

On Maundy Thursday (13 April) we're trying something new. We
