Parish Council April/May

April's meeting transacted the usual business, including a statement by the chairman that consultations with Highways were moving towards an agreed policy for hedge-cutting.

May's meeting started with statements from the chairman, Martin Worth and our county councillor Mr Foot about their respective activities, and were followed by Kate Mitchell's summary of her role in reviewing regional NHS Community services. (These being the core items in the Annual Assembly. Some members of the audience were disappointed that the occasion was dignified by neither drinks nor nibbles).

Ms Mitchell said that the future of St Barnabas hospital would be decided this year. The choice is between closure or modernisation. Its previous Minor Injuries service would soon be assumed by Saltash's two Health Centres during their normal working hours - but not just yet. Highdown roadside hedge-cutting was discussed at length, and it may be interesting to describe the convolutions. Early in May's meeting the chairman detailed his discussions with Highways, whose representative had recently visited Highdown to see for himself why the parish got vexed about this stretch of lane each year. He said that it did not need cutting 'at this time'.

When the right time came, County would write to landowners giving them a month to get the hedges cut. If they did not comply, County would organise a cut which might take another month. Our councillors were a bit stunned, but seemed to accept this Olympian formula.

Councillor Andrew Butcher said that the parish council should repeat last year's action and commission and pay for a private cut. The parish Clerk said that they had no authority to do so. It was her duty to advise against such an action, as they would be acting illegally. Much laughter from councillors, and mention of visiting hours etc.

It was only when the meeting was about to wrap up, during any other business, that Councillor Marilyn Dennis asked what they were going to do about the hedges given that they were already high and imminent filming in the village would increase traffic flow abnormally. Council decided to engage its own contractors at their own expense.

Landulph Neighbourhood Development Plan

A lot has happened since our last progress report in the December/January newsletter:

1 Cornwall organised another six-week consultation of organisations during January and February

2 An independent examiner, Andrew Ashcroft, visited Landulph incognito during March. His report on our plan provides good reading. He clarified some of the wording in places but has not altered the substance of anything. You can read the whole report on our website, landulphplan.org.uk and on the Landulph page of Cornwall - Neighbourhood Planning website.

We are proud of this bit of the report:

Para 4.2 re the Consultation Statement. Its key strength is the way in which it sets out the key issues in a proportionate way which is then underpinned by more detailed appendices. It is a first-class model for others to follow.

He also made this comment on his visit

Para 5.12 Thereafter I looked at the area around the harbour. I saw the collection of distinctive cottages on Fore Street. At the harbour I saw the very impressive views to the east across the Tamar Estuary. I was struck by the overwhelming sense of quietness.

Cornwall Council has carried out final checks that the plan conformed to all necessary legislation. The final form of the Plan, with the modifications suggested by the examiner, is now printed and ready to go. It is on our website. Please read it because the final hurdle of the referendum is now imminent. This will be arranged by the Cornwall Council as soon as possible. They had to wait until after the European elections as they cannot both occur on the same day. We expect the referendum to be in July. Keep an eye out for posters.

Please read the plan, decide whether you think it will be good for the future of Landulph, then cast your vote in the referendum.

I believe the rules on postal votes apply to referenda also, so if you will be away in July, think about arranging a postal vote.

Spring Show defies the weather

The weather was as contrary as it is possible to be this year with a very early warm spell bringing everything on quickly. This did affect the daffodil numbers but apart from that it was a successful show with a beautiful range of plants, colours and perfume. It was very good to see the baking classes so well supported. We obviously have excellent bakers in the parish. I think this new direction is here to stay. The teddy bears' picnic produced some delightful arrangements with lots of careful details, as did the spring garden topic. Well done to all the junior entries. The plant stall was a joy to behold with loads of healthy plants including many canna lilies kindly donated by Andrew Wright.

We are still looking for someone to take on organising the show next year; it would be extremely sad to see this happy, traditional village event disappear. There would be much support for a new show secretary.

Thanks to everybody who exhibited, visited or helped in many various ways. Viva the Spring Show!

Under Fives

At Landulph Under Fives, we have been enjoying the recent fine weather and took part in the Muddy Puddle Walk to the park in aid of Save the Children.

We currently have free places at our pre-school for three- and four-year olds, some two-year olds are also eligible for a free place. Please contact us for more information or to book a tour of our facilities.

Thank you very much to all of you who supported our recent fundraising events. We made £178 at Pentillie's Defender Day and £300 at our Easter Egg Extravaganza!

On 15 June, the committee will be running a stall at the Catt in the Hatt event. There will be all the usual favourites and new for this year will be 'Panning for Gold'. We look forward to seeing you there.

Landulph School

To celebrate Shakespeare Week, we welcomed Jenny and Liane from the Minack Theatre to work with our Year Three and Four children. After a selection of warm up games, they explored their own interpretations of Romeo and Juliet.

The children welcomed their families into school to share a range of Easter activities. We were 'eggs-tremely' impressed by all of the egg competition entries - they were 'eggs-traordinary'. It was clear to see how much effort everyone had put into their designs. The judges had some tricky decisions to make, but here is our winning entry. Well done Lola.

With warmer weather on the horizon and more people heading to the beach, we had a visit from the RNLI, reminding the children of the importance of keeping safe by the water and on the beach.

A particular highlight was my first Grandparents' Lunch. They travelled from Cornwall, across the water in Plymouth and from as far as London to share this special time with their grandchildren. It was fantastic to meet them all and I know the children really enjoyed spending this time with them.

In June, we are having an Environment Week, incorporating World Environment Day, World Oceans Day and single use plastic awareness. We have a range of visitors joining us, including representatives from the Marine Conservation Society and the Environment Agency.

Don't forget you can find more information about our school on Facebook

PTA There are a number of PTA members coming to the end of their time as their children will be leaving Landulph in the summer. The PTA is seriously in need of new members, and in particular a Chairperson, to lead the team in the future.

Landulph Festival will break new ground

The Landulph Festival will fill the parish with music, art and theatre from 11 October to 2 November this year. There will be four unmissable weekends of live music, art, theatre and some exciting new ventures into the world of entertainment!

Further details of the Programme will be published in the July/August Newsletter but we can promise you that you will not be disappointed, with performers ranging from local talent (Village Night is back!) to Shakespearean Actors and including world class musicians, John Williams & John Etheridge.

The Three Rivers Challenge

The Cargreen Yacht Club Three Rivers Challenge took place on Sunday 19 May. The aim of this event is to demonstrate that in a small boat you can explore our beautiful estuary.

On an ebbing tide 37 adventurers set sail in a 10 dinghy flotilla escorted by four motor boats. First stop was Saltash beach in front of the Union Inn, next we ventured up the Lynher River stopping at a beach by Ince Castle for lunch, then onto the Tamar River Sailing Club and finally venturing up the Tavy to the Old Plough for cheesy chips, before returning to Cargreen on the high tide.

A great day out with some very good sailing.

David Wheatley

CYC stages manoverboard training day

Aware that many of its cruising members were 'well beyond peak muscle', John Davis, Commodore of the Cargreen Yacht Club, organized a special training day in May on recovering a person who has fallen overboard.

Falling overboard is the greatest fear of all cruising sailors and probably the biggest killer. John Davis pointed out that many club boats were crewed by just a husband and wife team where strength and stamina might be in short supply. He pointed out that it was often the husband who went overboard leaving his wife to rescue him.

Members were invited to bring their own boats and regular crew so that they could test their equipment and plan. Club members acted as casualties.

Many owners were surprised how difficult many of the standard recovery methods were, when dealing with a 'real' casualty, and how their equipment was. Advice was given on how to improve systems and recovery times.

Among the lessons learned were that it took up to seven minutes to return to a man in the water; some proprietary products worked quite poorly; it is vital to practice with your chosen method to make it quick, efficient and effective.

The event was a timely and salutary lesson with many participants going away to rethink their drills.

A Bird In The Hand

More junk mail; this time Western Power telling me that my power will be temporarily cut off due to 'extensive tree cutting'. After muttering to myself about it being a stupid time of year to do it, I make a note of the dates and times on the calendar and chuck it in the compost bin. Job done... no more thoughts wasted on the topic.

Luckily for our dwindling garden bird population, not only did others think about it more than I did, they did something about it too. Our local Tree Warden, Amanda Pugh, leapt into action by contacting the power company and our local council and reminding them of the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981.

While many of you may be aware that it's an offence to kill or injure a wild bird or its eggs, most people are not aware that it is also an offence to intentionally disturb wild birds or their offspring while they are nesting (1 March to 31 August). This includes trimming trees, hedges, garden shrubs etc...

Within minutes of being notified, our local councillor contacted the power company. An ecologist was called to survey the site where he found several nests of several different species. Consequently, only minor trimming was permitted and this had to be done with the ecologist present to supervise.

This may seem like a lot of fuss over a few common birds but the population of different species recorded by the RSPB over the last 40 years has declined dramatically. Numbers of the poor tree sparrow are down 95%, starling 71%, turtle dove 71%, song thrush 56% to name but a few. If we can save a few nests in a few trees in our little parish it all contributes to the preservation of the rich species diversity around us.

How lucky those little birds are that my apathetic response to the letter from Western Power was offset by the prompt actions of our parish tree warden and local councillor and resultant cooperation by the power company.

How can we spend £1,200?

As part of the proposals for the North Wayton Solar Farm extension, an agreement was made for the applicants to provide an additional lump sum payment of £10,000 to Landulph Parish Council, for use in the parish for the benefit of the community as a whole. Many projects have already been supported from this funding, and there remains £1,282 to be spent. Landulph Parish Council are asking parishioners for their views on how the remaining funding could be used, and have asked for this information in the following format:

- Two sides of A4
- Three contractors' quotes (where possible) detailing the costings of the project
- Explain how the project would benefit the Landulph Parish community as a whole
- To be emailed, or sent by post to the Parish Clerk
- Your contact name and details
- Deadline: 8 July 2019

Any suggestions received in this format will be considered at the Landulph Parish Council meeting on Monday 15 July 2019 at 7.30pm in the Landulph Memorial Hall Annexe, at which you will be asked to provide a five-minute presentation.

'Glass Houses' invades Landulph

Cargreen became a star of the small screen for the second time in just a few years when a new ITV drama started filming in the village at the end of May. Called 'Glass Houses', the drama's six, one-hour episodes star Dawn French and will continue to be shot around Fore Street and the Recreation Ground during the first weeks of June.

Road closures and a certain amount of disruption to village life was, however, a small price to pay for the entertainment of watching the arcane process of television production. Much of the action was shot on the Recreation ground where a village 'fete' was set up including a re-creation of Launceston Castle.

A medieval procession of knights, mummers and entertainers made its way past the Crooked Spaniards Inn, renamed 'Conqueror' for the duration. Shenanigans, chases, alarums and excursions ensued.

By the time you read this most of the filming will have finished though there will be more later in the summer. Keep an eye on Parish noticeboards for further information. If you have any problems with the filming, call Sam, Assistant Location Manager, on 07712 103837; email: glasshouseslocations@gmail.com.

Pimms for Cancer Research

We have been raising funds in Cargreen for Cancer ResearchUK for 40 years since 1979.

£2,250 has been raised in the last year making a spectacular grand total of £40,276.30 in 40 years.

We invite you to join us to celebrate this Ruby Anniversary with Pimms and afternoon tea at Landulph Memorial Hall on Sunday 21 July between 2.30 and 5.00pm. Tickets cost £12.50 from any committee member. There will be a Pimms bar, Craft Stalls, and children's corner. We hope that the talented people of the parish would like to take a stall to sell their wares.

There will be a small charge for a stall. Contact Jo Butcher for more details; tel: 0780 347 1195. Please help support Cargreen Cancer ResearchUK Fundraising Group.

Busy summer for the Gardening Club

A lot to do now the Spring season is over and the garden centres are full of temptation, particularly for me having just moved house. Sitting outside in mid-May is still a chilly activity with cold winds, but no doubt we'll soon be able to appreciate all the colourful plants in warmer temperatures.

During the summer the club has two trips planned by Community

Fun in the Sun

A relaxed Landulph Fun in the Sun (hopefully!) day will be held in the afternoon of Sunday 15 September.

This special opportunity to see the Tamar from a unique vantage point in a field on Neal Point has been made possible by Malcolm and Jane Best of Marsh Farm. Following the wedding of their daughter at Landulph Church, they have kindly offered the marquee in the field as a venue for a Parish event in aid of the Church Tower Fund.

From 2pm there will be live music, delicious cream teas and cakes, Pimms and strawberries as well as lots of fun and games, including Penalty Shoot Out, Welly Wanging, Space Hopper Racing, Cow Patty Bingo, Guess the Weight of the the farm animal, all culminating in a grand tug of war at 5pm.

The Landulph PCC is also delighted that the new Bishop of Truro, Philip Mounstephen, will be visiting Landulph on 15th September to attend a special Church Service of Dedication at 3pm to which all are welcome. During this Service he will dedicate the Cross of Worship kindly donated by Landulph Methodist Church on its closure, which will then take pride of place at St Leonard and St Dilpe for the future.

Dear Newsletter...

I would like to say a huge thank you to Con for the work that he has done in rebuilding the rotten steps on the footpath up the hill above Penyoke. He has put in hours of hard and skilled work. I walk the footpath regularly and was very aware of the hazardous state they had got into having had an undignified but luckily un-harming tumble there. Thank you so much Con – our unsung hero!

Roof fund rises

Money raising efforts to repair the roof of the Landulph Church tower are bearing fruit. The fund currently stands at £50,000 and is slowly heading towards the Parochial Church Council's (PCC) current target of £60,000. There have been some notable single donations including £7,500 from a private subscriber. The Landulph Festival of Music and the Arts has contributed £4,000 from its reserves. The Festival was started in 2002 mainly to raise funds for an earlier church roof appeal. £1,750 has come from the Churches' Trust, a wing of the Ecclesiastical Insurance company. The Duchy of Cornwall's Cornwall Historic Churches Trust has given £5,500. The PCC itself has contributed £12,000. The Council is grateful to the many Landulph residents who have generously given money and time.
