Parish Council December 2018

There were nibbles and wine available before business at the December Parish Council meeting and again at the end, so with comfort and joy in mind let's be thankful that three parishioners volunteered to fill the vacancy for one councillor. After Libby Gawith, Roger Pugh and Andrew Butcher made their bids for office, Andrew was elected and is now our footpath rep. Philip Braund replaced Marc Shirlaw as Vice Chairman.

Potholes: could LPC commission a better repair service than County?

Councillor Foote advised strongly against, saying that problems should be reported to Highways asap. Cornwall County had a target for repair within three days, weather permitting.

Much time was spent discussing the Council's purchase of a demountable extension for the Hall stage, mainly because the purchase had not been formally recorded as an agenda item at previous meetings nor any competitive tenders discussed. No-one disputed its possible value to the larger community even though its initial usefulness and urgent need were all about February's pantomime. Apparently it needed our councillors' approval to release the payment for the staging, which was due to be delivered the very next day! Despite their reservations about the path taken between start and finish, councillors approved the purchase, which will be paid from the Solar Park grant. This will leave about £1,900 remaining in the kitty.

Still on money matters, the Clerk advised that next year's Parish Precept would need an increase of 7% to stand still or 10% to stay healthy.

Consternation! There'd be gilets jaunes causing civil unrest with pasty bonfires in the street if we imposed 10%. Calm down dear, households would have to pay only an additional £2.57 per year for a Band D property or £5.14 for a Band H. Phew; we've had quite enough stress recently.

Rosehill development is rejected by PC

This day dawned after the spookily precise Super Blood Wolf Moon eclipse and ushered in the much-derided Blue Monday, claimed to be the most depressing day of the year. Fun-seekers may have been a tad disappointed with tonight's 115-minute long meeting in which most time was taken up with meticulous dissection of the Rosehill 40-house development proposal.

The developer's agent outlined its content, claiming that it was consistent with the Neighbourhood Development Plan. Public and councillors alike criticised the high density of housing, no provision of shop parking, inadequate private green space per smaller household, possible sewage management overload, and increased general traffic.

Councillor Andrew Butcher pointed out that front doors of eight affordable homes and the shop frontage were accessed from a new pavement on Fore Street itself, with a risk of on-street parking. Council advised its rejection, listing its reasons to County. Approval was swiftly given for developments at North Wayton. These planning matters had filled the public galleries yet attracted few public comments. The rest of the meeting settled to routines of slight interest and the public thinned out, preferring to nod off at home.

Noting that a granite bollard had been cemented into the middle of Paradise Lane footpath/bridlepath to stop vehicular traffic (usually at night and without lights!), Council will seek County's advice on who bears responsibility for safe passage.

Chairman Martin Worth made another appeal for Landulph Emergency Plan volunteers. This is in response to a county-wide encouragement to organise a body of volunteers who might be useful in some emergency where the normal responders (Police, Fire & Rescue etc) might be slow or overwhelmed. In this parish Martin is looking for either skills or equipment that could be useful in a disaster, such as a Lockerby-type plane crash. He mentioned farmers with heavy all-terrain transport & earth-moving equipment, and medical/nursing skills.

The Chairman also reported that extension of the 20mph speed limit to the bottom of Fore Street would be implemented soon, but that Speed Watch Team volunteers would need safe road-side spots from which to monitor us. So if you have a suitable corner of your garden wall that could be a speed-gun emplacement... shhh.

Litter gathering

Since the initial meeting of the Parish litter pickers, way back in the spring of last year there has been a great lessening of litter in the lanes around the parish. So thanks to all the people who have collected very consistently all that time. I suggest things continue as they are and we have another meeting in the spring when there will be a prize for the most interesting piece of litter found! Anyone can enter. In the meantime if anyone wants to join in or drop out please contact me Jane Espig on 844811

Under Fives

We have been busy so far this term at Landulph Under Fives, the children have been learning how to write their names and making yummy cakes! A new member of staff has started, we are very lucky as Gemma is a qualified teacher and has a great wealth of experience to share with us.

As always our pre-school committee is looking for extra helpers. If you would like to join our enthusiastic group of parents and community residents, please let us know. In particular, if you are an accountant, have accounts or book keeping experience, we are looking for a new Treasurer. Joining the committee is a great way to make new friends and our meetings are informal.

There are currently government funded and unfunded vacancies for new children at pre-school. If you would like your child to have a free taster session, please call 07718830149 or email landulphunderfives@yahoo.co.uk. If you would like to see if your child is eligible for a government funded place, please visit: www.childcarechoices.gov.uk.

New Head for Landulph Primary

Karen Ball writes: As some of you will know from previous editions, Esther Best has left Landulph Primary and so it gives me great pleasure to introduce myself as the school's new Headteacher.

Taking over the reins of such a highly regarded school is a tremendous honour. I am a strong advocate of the benefits of education and have been teaching for over 20 years in Plymouth and Devon. While I have had many roles working in both inner city and rural schools, most recently I was a Deputy Head for 14 years.

My priority as new Headteacher is to continue to ensure Landulph Primary is an exciting, happy and successful school at the heart of the local community. We are lucky to have a skilled, committed team who strive for the upmost success for our children and who have a caring and supportive ethos at their core. I am also passionate about our school working in partnership with parents, staff, governors, the local community and with SMART, our Multi Academy Trust.

I have received a very warm welcome since joining the school and I am now looking forward to a busy year ahead and getting to know as many people in the Parish as I can. If you should have any school-related questions, then please feel free to contact me.

Mrs Karen Ball

Governor Vacancy

Landulph Primary is keen to recruit a new School Governor to build on the current expertise of the Local Governing Body. School governors make a valuable contribution to a child's education, opportunities and futures and whilst challenging, it is a hugely rewarding role. If you would like to find out more about this opportunity, then please contact the school office by email - secretary@landulph.cornwall.sch.uk

Landulph Church Needs YOU

Do you know?

- 94% of the respondents to the 2017 Neighbourhood Plan Questionnaire circulated to every house in the Parish said that Landulph Church was very important or fairly important to them.
- The Tower roof lead covering needs urgent repair and other preservation works. The provisional estimate for the cost is £60,000. Because of Grade 1 listing cheaper options cannot be used. To date money raised through applications from other charities, including a grant from Allchurches Trust, and by considerable efforts and generosity of the congregation, is around £30,000.
- The balance is urgently needed so that work can start in the early summer. Look out for the Tower Appeal sign at Landulph Cross, indicating progress towards our target.
- The Diocese assures us that there are no plans for the church to stop being used for regular worship, nor is there any pastoral reorganisation planned which would affect its role. However the church gets no money from the Diocese for maintenance and repairs and the parish are required to make our very best efforts to raise the necessary money.
- The Tower has an excellent peal of six bells that are frequently rung by teams of ringers. It is also home to a protected colony of bats.
- Landulph Church stands on a Celtic 'Lan' or oval churchyard site, close to the River Tamar, and is dedicated to St Dilph, possibly one of the 24 missionary saint children of Brychan, and St Leonard who was added in the Middle Ages.
- It is thought that much of the present Church including the Tower was rebuilt in the 15th century, although the font and tower base and some walling may be Norman. Landulph was then a thriving port and departure point for Pilgrims to the shrine of St James at Compostella in Northern Spain.
- Our beautiful Church is well known as the resting place of Theodore Paleologus a descendent of the rulers of the once mighty Byzantine Christian Empire. In 1962 the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh visited Landulph Church to see the memorial plaque of his ancestor.

Weddings, Baptisms, Burials, Celebrations, Memorials, Concerts, Fetes- Landulph Church is always there for you. It is there to serve the whole community. It is your church and it needs your help.

Bats in Cargreen

In August 2018 we were lent a bat detector for three nights from The Devon Wildlife Trust. The recorder was a microphone and receiver in a toughened plastic box that we fixed to the top of the pergola in our garden at Three Corner Meadow.

This survey is being run as part of the Devon

Greater Horseshoe Bat Project, which is a five-year partnership project of 18 organisations (including the Tamar Valley AONB) and led by Devon Wildlife Trust.

Bats find their prey through echo-location; this is where the bat calls at a very high frequency (most humans cannot hear this - although children are sometimes able to) and listens for the return call as it bounces off an object. It is these calls that the bat detector we borrowed recorded, and many of these are distinctive to a particular bat, or a group of bats. There are 18 species of bats in the UK. Our detector recorded 10 species including common pipistrelle, long-eared bat, soprano pipistrelle, lesser horseshoe and Mmotis species. The barbastelle, daubenton's bat, greater horseshoe and whiskered must be lonely as only a single pass was recorded for these species.

Having watched the bats at dusk flying in our garden we were fascinated to discover that there were so many different species. Having always tried to garden in a way to encourage wild life we are delighted that our unstructured and untidy form of gardening works.

Good neighbour saves elderly resident

The Parish website may well have saved the life of an elderly Cargreen resident.

The woman's granddaughter, who lives three hours from Cargreen, had become concerned about her grandmother when she was unable to contact her by phone. She looked up the Parish on-line and found the name of its Chairman, Martin Worth.

Martin takes up the story: 'I was having a quiet Friday evening at home when the phone rings. It is a young woman who has found my address and phone number from the parish website.

'Whilst continuing the call on hands free, I went round to the house to find it was locked, lights were off and there was post still in the letterbox. I alerted concerned neighbours, only to find that the designated keyholder was away. Whilst the other neighbours tried to locate a key, I tried to gain entry from the back of the house which is normally inaccessible. I scaled two fences (with a torch in my mouth!), into her back garden and on shining my torch in the window, I saw a person lying on the floor. Much to my relief, she made a movement as the torchlight shone on her. Having consulted with the grand-daughter, I managed to break open the French windows and go to the lady's aid. She was cold and confused but conscious. I covered her with some bedding and with that, thankfully, the neighbours who have found a key, entered via the front door. The emergency services (an ambulance and a first responder) arrive within twenty minutes and took the patient off to hospital.

I am pleased to report that she has since made a good recovery. I later learned she had fallen more than once, having become disorientated and dehydrated over the previous 18 to 24 hours that she had lain on the floor. Her emergency panic alarm had been activated but due to an error had not been connected. This whole experience made me realise how important it is to double check all arrangements made for the wellbeing of the elderly and vulnerable in our parish.'

Cargreen Cancer Research Committee would like to thank the family of the late Mr Bill Doughty for the donation of £600 from the retiring collection at his funeral.

Landulph Film Club

19 February: My Cousin Rachel (2017). This thriller is based on a novel by Daphne du Maurier. Philip is a young Englishman who finds his cousin Ambrose dead after travelling to Florence. He vows revenge against Rachel, missing wife of Ambrose, blaming her for his untimely death. When Philip meets Rachel for the first time his mood suddenly changes as he finds himself falling for her seductive charm. As his obsession grows Rachel hatches a new plot to recover her late husband's estate from the unsuspecting Philip. Where does it all end up? Come and see.

19 March: A very different theme underpins Stolen Children (1993). Described by the New York Times as a gem of an Italian film whose ideas could not be more simply expressed. It is able to address political matters with tremendous compassion without losing track of people. The people in this film are a shy, decent carabinieri (policeman) and two troubled children from a chaotic home who have been placed in his care to take to a children's home in Rome. It is a journey which does not go smoothly. His tale of the lost children is amazingly free of mawkishness or sentimentality.

Gardening Club

The mild weather is allowing quite a few flowers to come out already but there is still time for a drop in temperature.

The 2019 programme begins on Wednesday 13 February with a talk by Howard Wills about the Atlantic island of Madeira. On Wednesday 13 March our speaker is Mike Stephens who will be discussing 'How plants are born and bred'. By April gardening will, hopefully, be in full flow so on 10 April Tricia Howard will give some ideas on 'Garden Design'.

Spring Show : The 21st Landulph Spring Show will be held on Saturday 13 April from 2pm to 4pm at the Memorial Hall. There will be the usual profusion of flowers, shrubs, floral art, cookery, children's contributions, plant sales and refreshments, including homemade cakes and drinks. There is a new competition this year, the Bakery class.

A reminder for those new to the parish that they are very welcome to join the Gardening Club; the first meeting is free.

Jen Hambly

Spring Flower Show Organiser

We are looking for a lively, enthusiastic person to take on the delightful and well-established roll as Spring Flower Show organiser. You don't have to be a member of the Gardening Club, just interested in plants, village life and activities. The next Spring Show is on 14 April 2019 and ideally the new organiser could shadow the process then and take over for 2020.

The School and Pre-school have always made valuable contributions and there will be plenty of opportunity to bring new ideas to the event.

This show has been running for 20 years and it would be quite a loss to village life and the horticultural history of the Tamar Valley if it were to finish. Anyone interested should contact Jane Espig, Chenoweth, Cargreen, 844811.

The Landulph Races

It's horse racing time in Landulph again, an evening not to be missed, on Saturday 16 March. Doors and bar open at 6.30pm and the first race starts at 7.30pm. Tickets at £5 each includes your supper. Why not buy a horse and name it yourself for only £5, or maybe sponsor a whole race. The usual suspects will have all this to sell and be door knocking quite soon. If you are unable to come along and enjoy the fun you could still participate by buying a ticket in the Tristar Race 8 for only £1.

There's a big cash prize for the person picking the winning combination. So get the date in your diary, book the babysitter and save up all those odd pennies - only 50p for a bet. All proceeds will go to your community hall, The Landulph Memorial Hall.

The Landulph Choir was in fine voice in the lead-up to Christmas when they sang a selection of carols and popular Christmas songs at Slipway Quay. A good crowd of parishioners enjoyed singing along, sustained by mince pies and mulled wine.

Parish Walk

The traditional Christmas Parish Walk took place on Sunday 30 December. This year the number of walkers totalled ninety of all ages plus many from the parish canine community. We had favourable conditions enabling everyone to enjoy the walk, which for the middle distance walkers, broke all records by being completed in one and half hours. This is, hopefully a reflection on the fitness of parishioners, and also some younger, exuberant people setting the pace. Of course, everyone came back to the yacht club to enjoy the pasties, soups and other beverages from the bar. The newsletter is grateful for the £40 donated by the organisers and helpers from funds raised by this event.
