Hats Off to the Magic of Landulph Festival

I admit being a tad worried when invited to be 'official photographer' for this year's Landulph Festival of Music and the Arts. I wondered how I might do it justice as photography for me is a passion rather than a profession. No fancy 'big camera' - just me and my humble iPhone and a love of capturing the beauty of the 'behind the scenes'. But I said yes... and loved every minute of what was the 20th year of a fabulous festival that makes me love this village even more. And I don't think I'm the only one... Out of the many wonderful performers I met and photographed, I still recall the look on the face of one of the blues musicians leaving the stage to rousing applause from an audience that rocked the rafters of the Landulph Memorial Hall. "Who knew this place even existed?" he said in awe as if he'd just somehow discovered a parallel magical universe in a hidden musical venue (with a great bar!) A place where people appreciate every note. A place that loves the power of music and the arts. A place that oozes warmth and community welcome. He was so right. I felt that too. Those festival acts I managed to catch included the musical artistry of Russ Sinclair and the Smokin' Locos, the wonder and giggles of an evening with magician Bertie Pearce, the classical prowess of the quartet Greenwood Consort, the uplifting songs of Mount Kelly Choir, the wonder of the Wurlitza troupe of musicians playing along to old movies, an inspiring art exhibition and a line dancing extravaganza that brought old and young together...

It left me with the impression this festival is created and delivered every year with much needed togetherness, fun and connection. It's thanks to the volunteer committee who make it possible - and to you, the all important audience who support it. So, big (cowboy) hats off to you all. I hope the magic continues with plenty of 'yee-hahs' for many more years to come!

Parish Council - October

Under Fives Pre-school Councillors have met the Under Fives Pre-school team to discuss support. The Pre-school is very successful but, in common with other local schools, is under pressure because of the falling birth-rate. The discussion was aimed at trying to attract more community support.

It would be a major help if the Pre-school were to be adopted by Landulph Primary Academy for which there has been a recent precedent at Dobwalls. This would attract more facilities and staff but was a long-term aim. In the short term, the Parish Council is unable to provide continued financial support. The Under Fives committee are now looking for community support for business and project management matters leaving the Under Fives to fund raise. (See the Under Fives report elsewhere).

Councillor Martin Worth would be raising the Pre-school's profile at County level, with Botus/Hatt Parish and in the Cornwall Network Council.

Cormac Volunteers Councillors have successfully applied to become 'Cormac Volunteers'. This allows them to carry out minor community improvements on land notionally controlled by Cormac (the county's contractor for the road infrastructure). This is relevant to the village pump plans and to the dinghy at the narrowing of Coombe Lane. The move also covers things like work to benches, noticeboards and mowing. A local farmer has offered a trough to sit in front of the pump.

Climate Action Group The group's plans to buy a thermal camera have progressed. A second-hand one will be procured from within their allocated budget, and they will create a procedure for CAG members to use it.

Penyoke Playing Field Councillor Phillip Braund has grown 250 wild flowers which have been planted on the bank by young members of the Gardening Club. This would be repeated next year.

The water leak in the road had been fixed... and promptly failed again. Watch this puddle.

Noticeboards and bus shelter The board at the Memorial Hall needs either repair (£400) or replacement (£1,500). The board on the junction at Coombe Lane is still plastic and still has rotten wooden side packing. Councillor Tagg was getting quotes.

The Clerk had been reassured that the insurance company would provide a like-for-like replacement, but she would then ask for the impact of a modern replacement. However, Bat-Man will need to do a survey first, and who knows what will happen then.

Community Network Highways Scheme Plans for the extra layby in the Narrows on Highdown are in process, but the council will investigate whether we can get signs saying 'one-way', or something similar, sooner.

Weed Spraying Cormac have stopped spraying weed killer on kerb. Probably better for the environment.

Chair's Urgent Business; Memorial Hall For the coronation next year we have also been offered an outside live-screening unit which could be set up at the Memorial Hall. The feed could also be streamed into the hall, but we might need a better projector..

Parish Council - November

Public forum Councillor Clare Tagg produces an email summary of parish business and circulates it to anyone who chooses to receive it. The email was praised. However, in view of Chair Councillor Martin Worth's involvement at County level, could the email include appropriate highlights of county business.

Previous Minutes Councillor Tagg reported sewage leakage at the bottom of Fore Street during the recent heavy rain. This has disappeared, but she said parishioners should be aware that any displaced manhole covers could be very dangerous.

Planning Lower Marsh Farm has applied for permission to build a swimming pool. No problem about filling it in this weather!

Penyoke Playing Field The tractor will be repaired next January and the Multi-Play and climbing frame in February/March. The activity trail and balance bar have rotten wooden parts which will be replaced by composite materials later in the year.

Councillor Braund removed the rotten bench from the bank. It will be replaced with a recycled plastic bench bought with a parishioner's donation.

Footpaths Village walks are planned for 27 December.

Trees The Landmark Tree (a sessile oak) will have been planted by the time you read this. Four school children from the parish will have done the deed, watched by the rest of the school. A plaque commemorating the Queen's Green Canopy will on a stake, and the tree will be visible from the road (when it grows a bit!) The landowner, Richard Brown, has agreed to watch and water the sapling as part of his adjacent wild area. As reported at the October meeting, the Landmark Tree will come with a livestock cage, but the copse trees have not been so well protected. All had been 'pruned' where they emerged from their plastic guards, presumably by muntjac deer. They have now been sprayed with deer repellent.

Village Pump Cormac have approved the proposed location for the pump, though a scan of the area for pipes/cables will still be needed. Does anyone have a CAT scanner (Cable Avoidance Tool) we could borrow?

Cross Bus Shelter A bat survey of the old shelter found no bats, so quotes for demolition and removal of asbestos are now being sought. The noticeboard in the shelter will be reused by the Climate Action Group.

Community Bus Councillor Worth reported that as the Wednesday 'shopper-hopper' had been such a success, there is a possibility that we will now get a new community bus.

Memorial Hall projector The hall projector has a fault – a line across the screen – plus a cable fault, but is not worth repairing. The new fibre optic cable to the hall has raised new possibilities, and technology has advanced so a new projector is definitely desirable. Professional advice and a survey will now be sought. Other parish groups who use the projector might be willing to contribute to the cost.

‘Let Cornwall Decide’ This slightly odd discussion relating to the proposal that Cornwall should become the first County Unitary Authority with its own mayor. This would mean more funding and more powers for the County Council. A petition has been started asking for a public vote on whether there should be a mayor, but it appears this is actually in breach of Council rules and in any case is somewhat premature. The details of the proposal are not yet clear; Michael Gove was likely to visit the county soon to explain.

Good Growth Fund (CIOSGoodGrowth.com) As part of the Government’s Levelling Up agenda, Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly have been allocated £132M over 3 years to provide ‘good growth’! Anyone except individuals can apply – see website for more details.

30mph limit Cormac has made a proposal for the 30mph limit along the route to North Wayton. The controlled section is shorter than originally requested and will be challenged. A tasteful ‘gate entry’ will be requested, plus ‘Beware horses’ signs, instead of dragon’s teeth road markings.

Any Other Business Councillor Diane Gregory will order a Christmas tree for the Cross, and as it is Christmas the next meeting will involve wine and mince pies! Peter Plume

Children forced to walk ‘dangerous’ route

An appeal has been lodged into the Cornwall Council decision to remove the school bus route from Hatt to Landulph. The Council Travel Department conducted an independent survey during term time and the report was published one working day before October’s Parish Council meeting

The report said both possible routes were acceptable for children to walk. The number of vehicles counted was only half the maximum permitted number and speeds were low ‘because of the poor sight line visibility’. There was a stunned silence at the meeting following this announcement. The Chair, Cllr Martin Worth, said that it would now require a parent to appeal against the report’s conclusions but added that the appeal success rate was very low. This was a big policy issue and had major implications for other locations.

There are plans for a protest walk which it is hoped will get television coverage. But at November’s Council meeting Martin Worth observed that the County’s school travel budget was £19 million of which 85 per cent was spent on taxis already. Peter Plume

Landulph's changing climate – winter talks

Landulph Parish Climate Action Group are organising winter talks again this year. The first talk will be about Nature Recovery in Landulph's Changing Climate on 6 February at 6.30pm in Landulph Memorial Hall. The second is the use of the group's thermal camera on 6 March. Please put dates in your diary.

But how has our climate changed over the last 50 years? Has this had an impact on the landscape? Has this had an impact on your crops or your garden? Have you noticed a change in the insects, flowers, birds and animals that live in our parish or the seasonal visitors to our parish? We would really like to hear the climate-related memories of people who have lived in the parish for more than 30 years and see any photos you have. You can email us at LPCAG@landulph.org.uk or ring or message me if you would rather talk to someone.

Clare Tagg, Climate Action Group

Charging cables 'an unlawful obstruction'

Electric cables crossing pavements or footpaths could be regarded as an 'unlawful obstruction', says the Parish Council. The Council has received complaints about car charging cables which could be a potential safety or trip hazards and would like to remind all residents of the potential dangers.

Under Fives Autumn activities

With the first half of the Autumn Term under our belts and flying into the second half, I would like to take this opportunity to let you all know what the children have been up to and the fun activities we have planned until the end of term. Our topic last half term was Houses and Homes. The children had fun creating houses from junk modelling and we took a walk around the village having a look houses in the parish. The children also took turns digging up carrots they had grown in the pre-school vegetable patch. November has two significant events that the children have been learning about which have tied in with our Autumn Festivals topic, Bonfire Night and Remembrance Sunday. The children made some lovely fireworks display paintings using tubes and golf balls. The children also made Poppies for the pre-school Remembrance window display. As we approach December, we are looking forward to Christmas. The staff have lots of great activities planned, including a Christmas lunch.

Landulph Under Fives Committee

The committee has planned several fundraising events. Santa has kindly agreed to visit the Landulph Memorial Hall on 18 December! This is sure to be a wonderfully festive event with Santa's grotto, crafts, games, reindeer food making, gifts and a fully licensed bar! The whole parish is welcome to come and visit, even if you don't wish to visit Santa. To book your Santa Experience ticket please see our facebook page for booking info. We are still trying to recruit new committee members. Without a committee we cannot run the Under Fives. If you have a spare few hours a month and are looking for something new, whatever your skills, please get in touch. Many hands make light work and it is rewarding to see how the committee's work helps to provide such a brilliant environment for the youngest members of our community.

Thank you to everyone who supported the Under Fives at the Landulph Craft Fair, from a cup of tea and a slice of cake to purchasing a raffle ticket, your contributions have made such a difference to our financial situation.

Stay tuned for more exciting events in the new year!

If you would like to contact us regarding any of the above please email committee@landulphunderfives.co.uk. If you have a child aged over or shortly turning two and would like to find out what preschool has to offer please email info@landulphunderfives.co.uk

As always, I would again like to offer my thanks to our fabulous pre-school staff for all of their hard work this term.

Jess, Landulph Under Fives.

Landulph School

It was fantastic sharing our whole school performance of Farmer Duc at Landulph Church as part of our harvest celebrations. We were proud to support Saltash Foodbank, helping local people in crisis during these very challenging times. After the last few challenging years, we finally welcomed our wonderful grandparents back into school for our grandparents' lunches. It was delightful to see so many of them sharing some very special moments with their grandchildren. We are already looking forward to the next time.

Tuesday coffee mornings

The Tuesday coffee mornings at the Memorial Hall have restarted. Organised by the MHA Communities Cornwall they happen on the first and third Tuesday of each month from 10am to 12 noon. It's great to be able to have a catchup over a coffee, piece of cake and a good chat! These get-togethers, which were so popular before Covid, are being slow to attract support and unless numbers increase, may not be financially viable. 'I'm so sad as these used to be very popular before lockdown' said Charlotte Bell, 'I feel this is a much-needed outlet in our community.'

Coombe Corner

In the Autumn of 2020 I contacted Martin Worth with an idea to plant up an old dinghy that had been languishing on the shoreline for some time. We were in luck as the land at the corner of Coombe Drive and Coombe Lane is owned by Cornwall Council and maintained by Cormac who gave their permission. The owner of the dinghy also agreed to allow us to use it. With the help of a posse of friends we drilled holes in the bottom for drainage and filled it with compost and horticultural grit.

My main reason for planting up this little area was to create a space for pollinators and to increase the biodiversity by creating a wildlife corridor to the garden I had created nearby. So then it was the exciting part... what to plant. I decided the first thing should be daffodils as they are naturalised in all the hedgerows around us. Echioiums were planted as a backdrop to the boat and they proved to be a huge success - when they flowered I recorded six different species of bee visiting over the summer months.

I had planted Verbena, the tall pink variety beloved of butterflies in my own garden, and this drew in so many different varieties. Open flowers of a daisy form were planted including the Cape Daisy that is often grown as an annual but here in Cornwall in the mild weather it's perennial.

I have grown Agapanthus for years knowing they are a favourite of the hummingbird hawk moth which visits us from the Mediterranean in the Summer, and I spotted three of these moths in Coombe Corner during July.

In the Landulph Parish Action Group (LPCAG) we agreed that it would be a good place to put a notice board to describe what species people can see as they walk down the lane. To make this more official we contacted Cornwall Council and after a site meeting and a rather difficult risk assessment form we became official Cormac volunteers with the responsibility of maintaining Coombe Corner. Once the notice board is erected look out for news from the LPCAG and an interactive way you can record what you see at Coombe Corner during the seasons.
